Girl Scout Troop 2119 won the skills competition last Saturday at the Klondike Derby.

Two out of three for girls at Klondike Derby

The girls from Troop 2119 came home with the top trophy in the skills competition at Camp Drake last Saturday as part of the annual Klondike Derby. It was their second such title in the last three years.

More than 200 Scouts and leaders from the nine-county Prairielands Council were on hand.

Troop 2119 Scouts participating were Abigail Cicone, Allison Hemming, Evelyn Schuchart, Evie Parker, Lena Miller, Lily Simon, Mars Shook, Tara Armas and Zoe Parker. They competed in various outdoor skill challenges such as fire building, survival shelters and first-aid situations. Troop 2119 is chartered out of Savoy United Methodist Church and linked to Troop 101.

An area troop also won the sled race. The boys of Troop 42, Homer, took top honors.

The competition involved placing a Scout in a sled with the remaining Scouts pulling it down the plateau region of Camp Drake.
